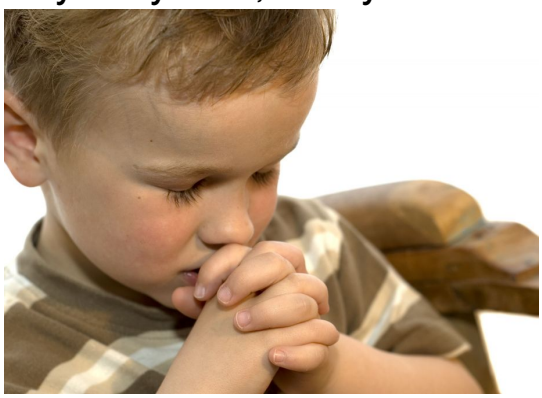
Programs of Religious Activities with Youth, or P.R.A.Y., is an interfaith resource, providing information on religious awards for youth for 130 different faiths.

P.R.A.Y's business office is a resource for all those of faith. They seek to bring youth closer to their individual faiths through education.

They encourage religious organizations and youth programs to come together. Both have an interest and responsibility for youth, and youth can be best served when they work together.



Youth benefit from a collaborative effort.
