

We share our program materials and information, with others who share our mission, because we believe by sharing material and information it better enables all those who find value in our efforts, to develop better value in theirs. For instance, why should it be necessary for every program or organization to create a document about how to run a meeting? Once, we have gone to the effort and expense of creating or developing material, we are proud others can avoid the cost and duplication of efforts of creating their own material or information. With time and resources being limited as they are, we are happy to help other in any way we can. In nearly every instance, we do not charge anything for the use of our program materials, information or assistance.
